MCCU Donates Scanners to Marshall Academy

Marshall Community Credit Union recently updated their applications systems, including the ability to import documents without scanning, and purchased Multi-Function Devices with the ability to scan. Meaning there were a lot of table top scanners that were no longer needed.. Rather than disposing of the scanners, MCCU donated several of them.

“Our technology refresh plan allows us to keep up with the technology to serve members while giving gently used equipment back to the community,” said John McKenzie, MCCU VP of Information Technology. “Often hardware which is no longer compatible with MCCU’s primary systems still has remaining usefulness for others,” he continued.

The scanners were then donated to Marshall Academy where they will be using them in the school office, classrooms, art room and with their robotics team. “We are very thankful for the donation,” said Marshall Academy Headmaster, Leslie Katz. “They will be immediately put to use here at the school,” she continued.
